

I am writing in regards to the Federal Communications Commission proposal to replace FM translators with Low Power FM stations. This proposal has a direct impact on one of the stations that I think has had a profound impact on the Hampton Roads community, a community that I have been a part of since 1987.

This area has been blessed to have K Love on the radio for at least five years now. The station has been an awesome blessing to the Christian community here. Day after day, I listen to this station and hear the testimony of people who have had their lives transformed by the music and positive messages delivered. In a world where there is such a need for more hope, this station provides a beacon of light that serves to shine through to the hearts of all its listeners, enhancing faith and a trust in the Lord of their lives. Forcing FM translators off the airwaves would remove a valuable source of peace and joy to thousands of listeners. This radio station provides an awesome public service to this area, promoting a positive, value based message to a world so in need of spiritual and moral reform. Why remove something that has so much benefit attached to it? Please keep K Love alive in Hampton Roads. We're so much better off with it. Thanks you.

Very Respectfully,

R. Mark Cummings
